OAHU POLO CLUB
WINS BIG MATCH

It was a beautiful scene and one not soon to be forgotten. The polo ground at Moanalua looked at its best; the surrounding hills were looking fresh after the one or two passing showers, and when the sun came out and the bright colors of the players flashed, it made a man feel glad to be alive.

And the crowd of spectators was an inspiration; to glance around the field and see the hundreds of automobiles lined up and the foothills outside dotted with people—many of whom had walked from the car line—made one think of what sort of crowds will attend polo games at Kapoia Park here on.

The local "Four Hundred" was well represented on Saturday at Moanalua, and all the well known people were there. By the time the game started there was a fine crowd of spectators present, and the "honk, honk" of the automobiles much in evidence.

Right from the start the Honolulu men began to show their mettle and within three minutes of the hit-off had scored a goal.

Then the local team went up in the air with delight, but, when, again shortly afterwards, the second goal was made the automobiles made a noise that was heard in their own homes.

The game was very one-sided, but, only Hanson and Forsyth, all well. The latter was away behind and it was a matter of time before he would be caught by the Fifth Cavalry.

Hanson scored three goals, and the Honolulu team won the match.

The Oahu Club certainly made fine arrangements for the comfort of the press and every facility for getting information was present. The lineup of both teams was as follows:

Oahu—Dr. Baldwin, No. 1; Sam Baldwin, No. 2; Walter Dillingham, No. 3; John Fleming, No. 4.

Fifth Cavalry—Lieutenant Barnard, No. 1; Captain Forsyth, No. 2; Lieutenant Quakenbush, No. 3; Lieutenant Hanson, No. 4.

Lieutenant Stewart, referee. Four perfect. Time of periods, 7½ minutes each. Total time, 30 minutes.

PHILADELPHIA SOCIETY GIRL
AND GENTLEMAN JOCKEY WED

FRANCES FELL AND A. J. ANTELO DEVEREUX

An event of interest to the fashionable set of New York, Newport and Philadelphia is the wedding of Miss Frances Fell and A. J. Antelo Devereux, on June 21. Miss Fell's mother had planned a yacht trip to the Mediterranean for her this summer when the young woman announced that she was engaged to Mr. Devereux and that they intended to be married this month. The cruise was abandoned. The heiress and the gentleman jockey—for Mr. Devereux is distinguished as such in the smart set—were constant companions at the recent horse show in Philadelphia and their friends were not greatly surprised when the engagement was announced soon afterward. Miss Fell is a granddaughter of A. J. Drexel and will inherit many millions.

TERRIBLE DISASTERS
FOLLOW EARTHQUAKE

In an extra issued by the Hawaiian Shinto this morning, a terrible state of affairs is told, following the great earthquake in Japan on the 14th. All communication has now been cut off from Kyoto and Osaka, where additional fires are destroying hundreds of houses, and many lives have been sacrificed to the flames. Every dispatch from the ill-fated district tells of fresh disasters.

Professor Dening, the noted Japanese interpreter, who has lived in Japan for many years, is very familiar with Lake Biwa, the scene of one of the earthquakes. He says it is one of the most prominent lakes in that country.

THE POET'S LAMENT.

I sit beside the murmuring tide
On the shore of the tropic sea.
In vain I pine for a suitable rhyme
Describing Waikiki.

The evening calm and the glistening palm—
I grant them all their due,
But whoever heard of an easy word
That rhymes with Oahu?

We pause to rest on the mountain's crest,
Where warriors strove to rally.
If I had the time to hunt for a rhyme,
How much could be said of the Fall!

With brilliant leis and songs of praise,
King Kaulaouli,
(Help, Help!) —E. F. T.

WHEN PROFESSOR STRUEMPELL of Vienna, the noted specialist, ordered E. H. Harriman to take at least two bottles of beer daily Harriman exclaimed. "But I never drank beer in my life."

"That is partly the trouble with you, and I shall give you a beer very light in alcohol," said the professor.

The exact diet prescribed for Harriman is as follows: At 7 o'clock in the morning, one pint of milk; 8 o'clock, small cup of coffee with cream, three ounces of cold roast beef, three slices of white bread with butter, a plate of potatoes.

At 10 o'clock, light beer and three slices of bread and butter; 12 o'clock, noon, farina soup, seven ounces of meat (roast beef or poultry), mashed potatoes, vegetables, four ounces of stewed plums and beer.

At 3:30 P. M., pint of milk.

At 5:30 P. M., third quart of milk, three ounces of cold roast meat, two slices of bread and butter.

At 8 o'clock in the evening three ounces of roast beef, four biscuits, glass of beer.

At 9:30 P. M., half a quart of milk, two biscuits, then to bed.

The beer prescribed by Professor Struempell for the great railroad magnate was very similar to our Primo Beer—mild and very light in alcohol. If you feel tired and run down try the great food-beverage.
